Core Project Team Ground Rules

- We commit to the process and to taking action.
- The best solution depends on collaboration by all of us. We will attend or send an informed representative to all meetings.
- We will keep an open mind, and leave our turf at the door.
- We commit to participate, prepare and represent our organization with effective communication. We especially commit to active listening, including letting others finish their thoughts.
- We will openly express our ideas, our contributions and concerns; we will not hold our cards close to the vest.
- Each party has a unique perspective and contribution to the solution. We commit to seeking all perspectives prior to making a decision.
- Any decision we make will be for the overall benefit Deschutes County.
- We will make decisions by consensus. Consensus is defined as 70% of us agree with the decision, but 100% of us can live with it and support it. We understand that this means not everyone will agree to everything.
